A Summer to Eclipse All Others...

On August 21, people across the United States will get to watch the sun disappear behind the moon, turning daylight into twilight, causing a rapid temperature drop and revealing streamers of light around the silhouette of the moon during the Great American Solar Eclipse. The 70 mile wide path of 100% totality will make its way across Wyoming just 90 minutes south of Campbell County (where we'll see the eclipse at 97%).

Campbell County Public Library System (CCPLS) has a summer of events planned at your libraries in Gillette and Wright to get you ready for this spectacular event.

One Book One Community 2017 will kick off June 1 featuring The End of Night: Searching for Natural Darkness in an Age of Artificial Light by Paul Bogard (www.paul-bogard.com).

The concept of One Book One Community, says CCPLS Director Terri Lesley, is to "create the feeling of a county-wide book club, where residents of different ages and backgrounds read and discuss one book. Overall, your library is encouraging county residents to read the book and pass it on to someone else, attend community eclipse events and watch the eclipse August 21."

Bogard will speak at Campbell County Public Library (CCPL) August 18 and at Wright Branch Library (WBL) August 19 kicking off the Energy Capital Eclipse Festival August 19-21 (<https://www.visitgillettewright.com/eclipse/>). Pick up a copy of Bogard's book, to read and pass along, at your libraries in Gillette and Wright.

Award-winning author Bogard has been featured talking about our night skies on NPR's All Things Considered, Public Radio International's Living on Earth, as well as many other radio programs, speaking engagements, and newspaper articles. The End of Night is (from the book cover) "a deeply panoramic tour of the night, from its brightest spots to the darkest skies we have left."

June Events

- Trivia Night @ Gillette Brewing Company • June 12, 7pm • Hosted by CCPL librarians. Eclipse-themed. The End of Night books for all who attend.
- Eclipse Wilderness Survival Skills: If you're heading into the wilderness to view the eclipse away from city lights, don't miss our series of three events to help you prepare. Watch for details about the other two programs next month or check our website: www.ccpls.org.

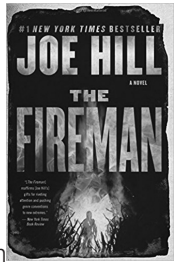

Survival Skills I: Day Hikes • Mike Miller, Educator and Outdoor Enthusiast • June 29, 7pm • CCPL • Miller is a Wyoming native who has shared his experience and enthusiasm of the great outdoors with his family, friends, students, and colleagues, sparking life-long enjoyment and appreciation of outdoor adventures in all. During this program, he'll discuss how to prepare for a hike into the wilderness so you can view this spectacular astronomical sight as one with nature.
